KAS MIND SELLE JAKKS LÄKITATIGI?

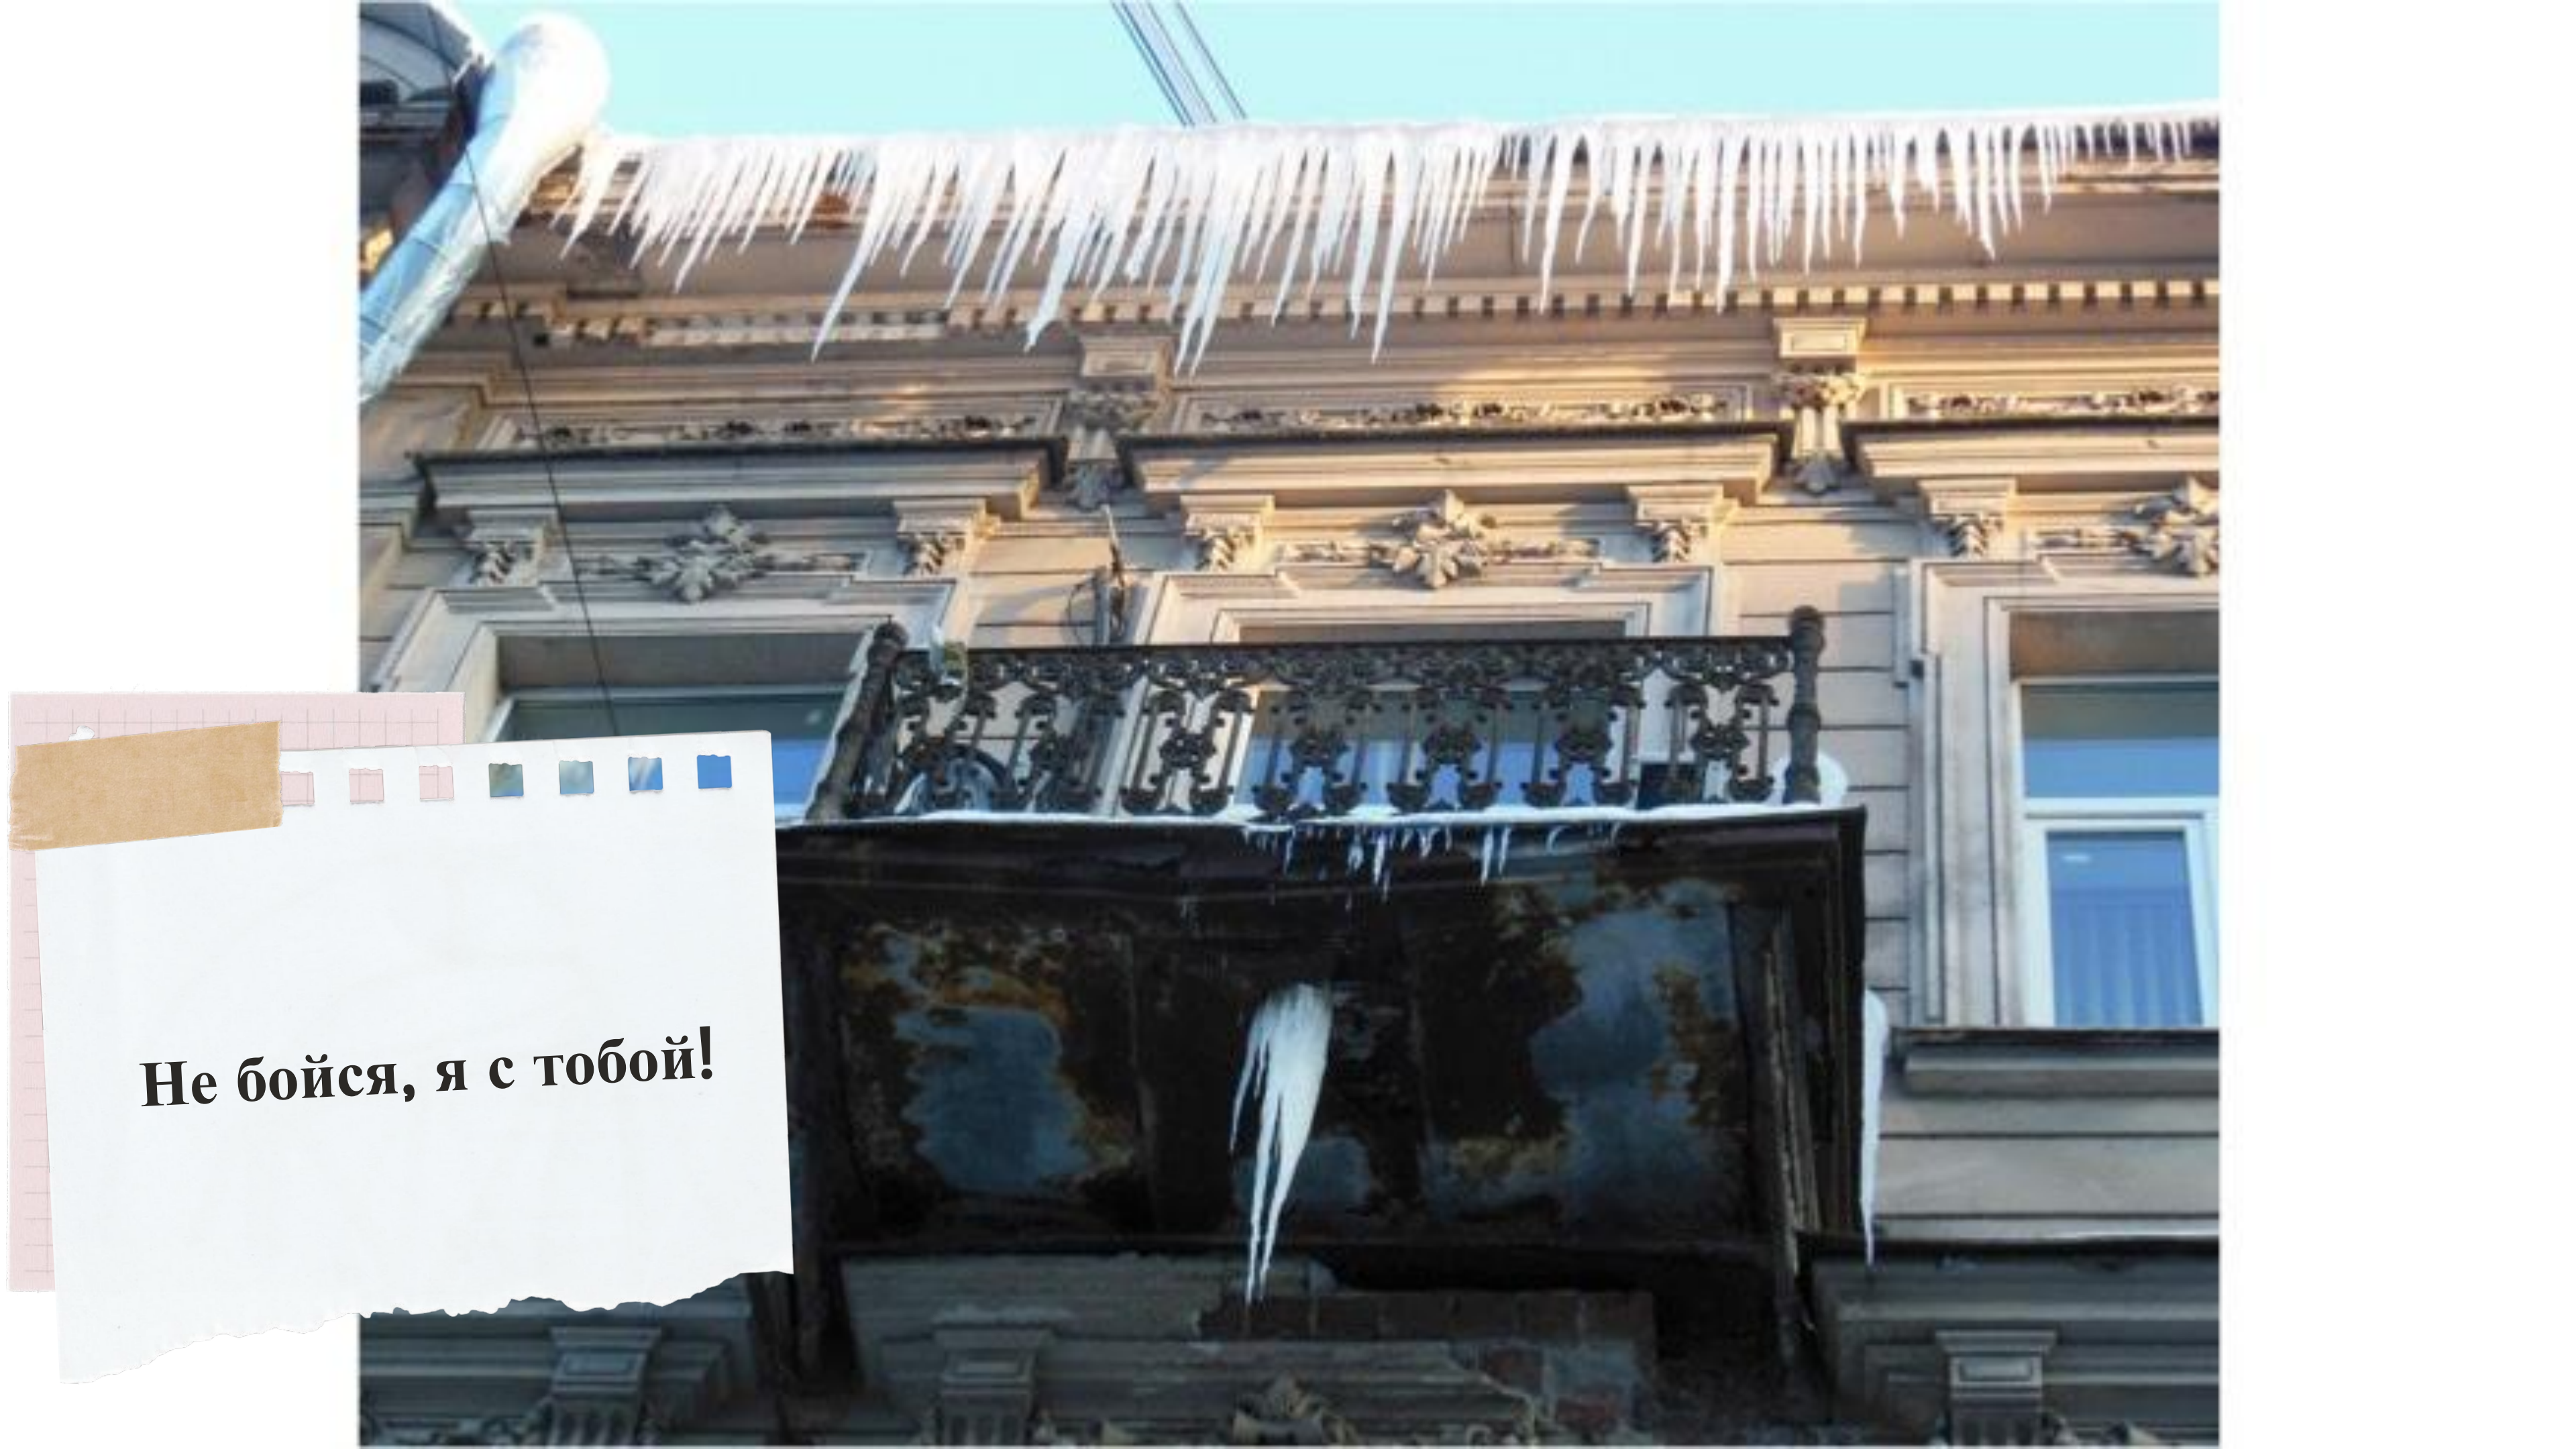

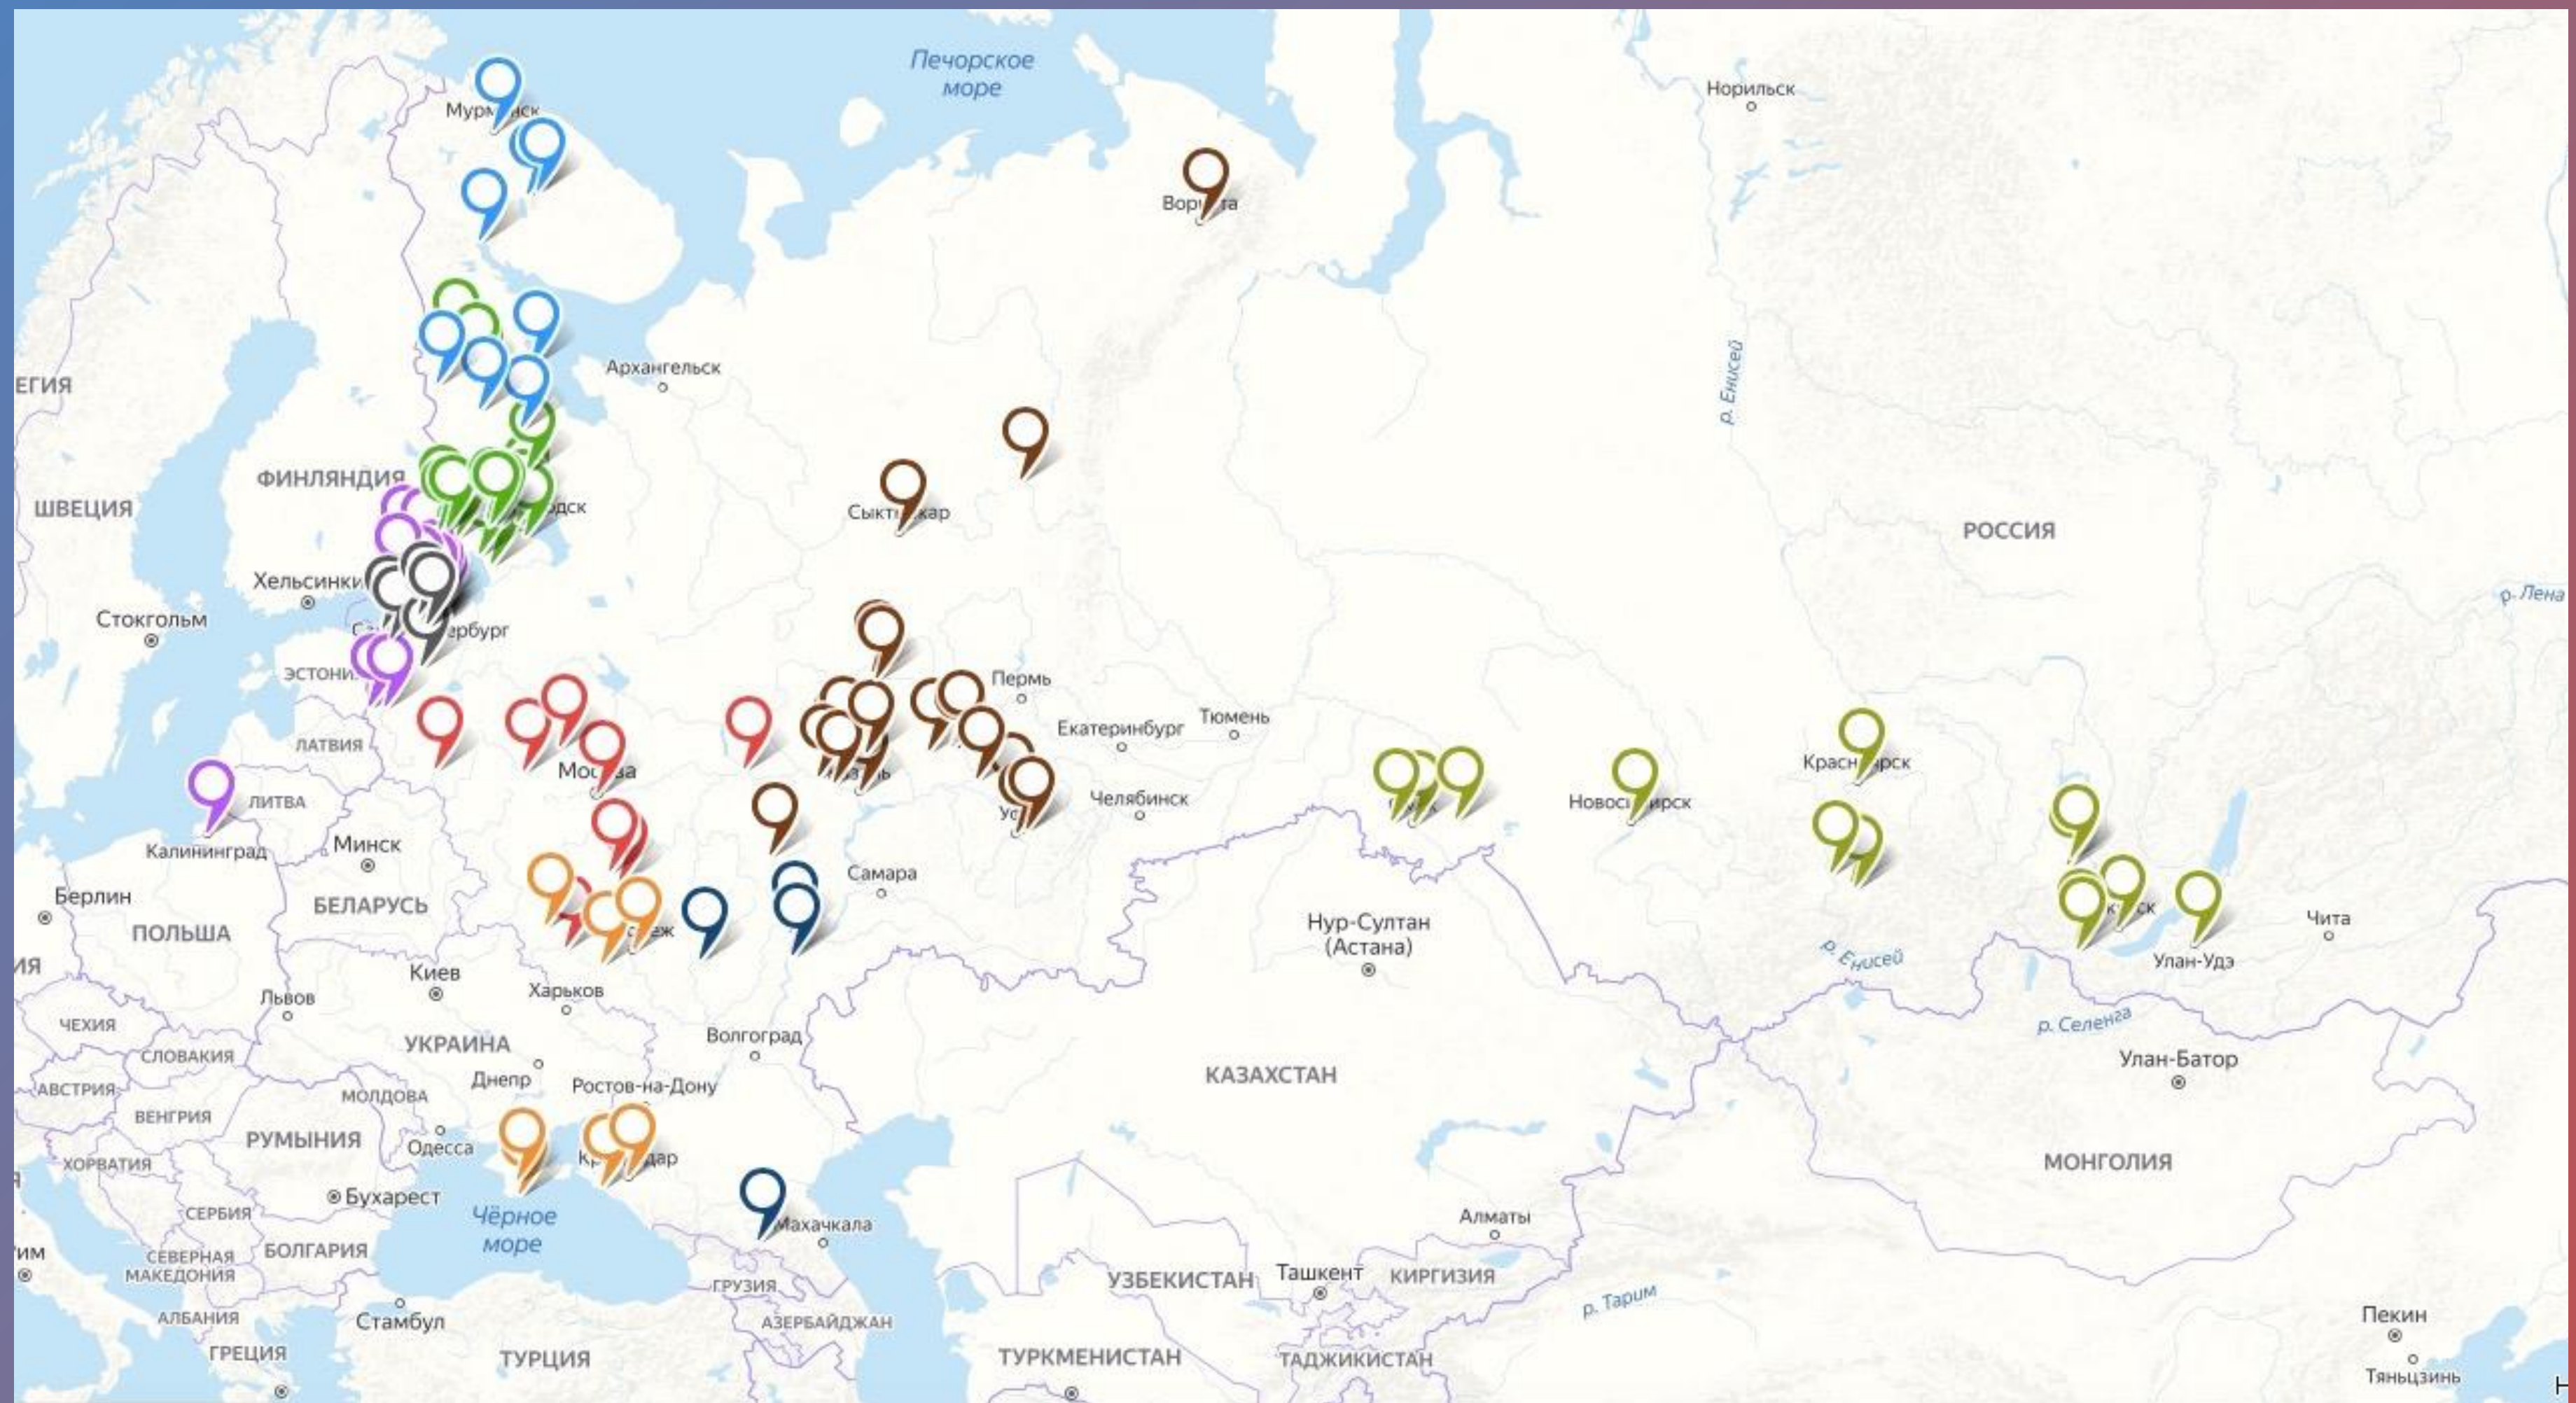

A photograph of a classical building facade, likely a theater or opera house, featuring ornate architectural details and a balcony. A large, thick icicle hangs from the balcony railing, and many smaller icicles hang from the roofline. The scene is set in winter, with snow visible on the balcony and roof. The building's facade is light-colored with dark accents, and the balcony has a decorative metal railing. A large window is visible on the right side of the image.
